

Its Not Rocket Surgery! Vol. 8: The Ten O'Clock Scholar - Learning Styles

Did you know that there are different learning styles? Weâ€™ve all heard of left-brained (sequential) and right-brained (spatial) learning. And weâ€™ve all heard of auditory (hearing) or visual (seeing) learning. But there are a couple of more recent categories that link them together with more definition. Have you ever heard of auditory-sequential versus visual-spatial learning? (Highly gifted children often have both). Children, even gifted children, with visual-spatial learning may be misdiagnosed with learning disabilities. And what about late-bloomers?
