

Precocious Preschoolers (Gifted-Spirit Series: Quantum Learning for Budding Geniuses Book 1)

Precocious Preschoolers is a practical, inspirational home guide for parents of preschoolers who exhibit natural gifts and talents and for children with gifts yet to have been identified. Prodigy Mom, Michelle Brown-Stafford, parent of an 11 year-old college student, presents compelling evidence of the natural genius of all preschoolers and how parents can effectively identify and focus those gifts through consistency, joy and inspiration. Book chapters include: Identifying Gifts & Talents; Signs of a Budding Genius; Imagination & Intuitive Gifts; Gateway to Genius; Methods of Mental Stimulation; Preschool and Accelerated Preschoolers; Nurturing Gifts and Talents Beyond Kindergarten and more. Michelle Brown-Stafford, through her personal experience of educating her very own son into early college at age 11 and having her daughter complete high school at 16, presents ways for parents to make learning a lifestyle at home without the use of the iron-fist approach. The author through this riveting ebook, touts the freedom of the home environment where genius and gifted ability can experience natural expression through parental guidance and with the use of focused energies such as inspiration, enthusiasm and joy. Precocious Preschoolers explains the benefits of these energies, along with the rewards of consistently providing powerful, progressive, every-day learning experiences that are based on what the preschoolers mind warrants as opposed to rigidly adhering to an age-appropriate grade-levels. As the goal is to make learning nonrestrictive and tailored to the child's overall personality which includes, taking into account a child's natural pace of learning and learning styles, resources are such as engaging educational activities in the home; free online interactive and educational games and world class university-based in home distance-learning gifted programs for preschoolers. With Precocious Preschoolers, intellectually-gifted young ones are allowed the benefit of being children first with fully-developed personalities who will progress through their secondary educational experience experiencing the brilliance of who they really are.
